

FIRED UP for HR Success

HR Professionals know that happier employees can literally transform the culture and climate of the workplace. But did you know that happier employees actually are 50% more productive—translating to greater efficiency and a healthier bottom line?

In this Keynote, Aric Bostick helps HR Professionals, at every level in your organization, to get FIRED UP by implementing seven essential employee transformational principles that will ignite personal change, employee engagement, and immediate performance increase.

What HR Professionals Can Expect:

Aric's trainings are high-energy, interactive, hands on, engaging, inspirational, and jam-packed with practical content to get your staff working with more energy and enthusiasm immediately. This program will be fully customized to meet your specific needs. Take your HR talent to the next level with this HR business model.

Aric's FIRED UP HR Model:

- Fuel your spirit by refocusing on your true purpose and why you do what you do.
- Inventory each day what is going well and learn how to take stock of your strengths and areas of improvement.
- Reframe - How to turn setbacks into opportunities and develop an attitude of gratitude that can change the climate and culture of your company.
- Energize your body and mind by developing a health and wellness plan no matter how busy you are.
- Declare your goals and intentions and take small steps each day towards their fruition.

- Understand how to connect with clients, vendors, and co-workers and make working with others a joy and not a chore.
- Present the best version of you and live in the moment by unplugging and paying attention by tuning in to those you work with.
